

eMotions Energyt Motions and Art Emotions

eMotions is a symbolic representation of the Nature of Denmark. The project showcases different artistic interpretations of the different danish ecosystems, so as to display Denmark's biodiversity – and to ideally engage different communities of the city. The EcoSystems are renewable energy generators: positioned so as to remind the geography of the islands of Denmark, they propose different artistic representations of natural phenomena, conveying the particular identity and activity peculiar to the different ecosystems. The project aims to evoke artistic emotions as well as to make visible the energy motions of nature, in order to develope in the public the awareness of the importance of the nature we all depend on.
