

The organ is a series of crystal tubes containing self positioning solar panels. The panels will follow the light in order to have the best possible light collection at any given time. The transparent cylinders create a mystical light forest with no boundaries.

The landscape design is inspired by the sun cart from the Danish Viking time. Flower beds are placed between the bringing us smell and helping us find our way through the light maze with our noses. The top of the cylinder will open to let air in and out creating a note of sound. This combination of light, smell, sound and texture, will create an environment for all the senses.
