The all project is based on the human activity. When people move, they create energy, which will be collected to supply the site energy.

All the surface of the project can collect energy. This surface creates a relief and it allows installations underground to have varied surface of course and interiors spaces. This topography brings a different identity while maintaining the rest of the city. The new landscape offer various practicing of sport: Dance, fitness, gymnastic, running, jogging, football, cycling... But also areas to relax and rest. Some of these activities can be found underground. Especially during the night, all activities stop and to let the nightclub started.

We have chosen to use the energy piezoelectric - from the human body - because it's an energy which always be present on earth as long as human will exist. It's necessary and vital for the planet that people become aware of the becoming of their environment. With this project we wanted to make people being responsible of their function on earth and what energy represent: they must produce to consume.
