

#SocialSolar

In an attempt to drive down BoS this is an investigation into ways to "inhabit" the "BoS space" - drawing out utility/revenue from a traditionally under-utilised aspects of a commercial scale photovoltaic system.

The "characters" have the potential for many configurations and dynamic movements outside of the sun tracking function, which will most likely be the default mode in order to maximise solar harvesting. Though when the sun isn't shining why not find some use/ fun/ revenue

The HelioTweet is seen as having the potential to act as a reimagined "speaker's corner" - an installation where analogue and digital meet, encouraging freedom of thought/ expression.
